The two graphs (below) provide the reasons given for “F” grades in Fall 2012.

College-wide, “Stopped Attending” accounted for 29 percent of the reasons why “F” grades were given. “Missing Assignments” accounted for 26 percent. No reasons were given for 21 percent of the “F” grades.

The first attachment gives the data subtotals by discipline; the second gives the detail for every course. These spreadsheets might be used to develop breakdowns within departments. Please advise if it would be useful to you for Institutional Research to develop such breakdowns for you.
Reasons Given for "F" Grades, Fall 2012

- Stopped Attending: 986
- Missing Assignments: 879
- No Reason: 703
- Quiz/Test Performance: 443
- Absenteeism: 159
- Never Attended: 157
- Class Prep/Participation: 43
- Personal: 15
- Plagiarism: 6
- Behavior: 4
- Child Care: 3
- No Textbook: 2
- Housing: 2
- Financial: 2
- Lateness: 1
Reasons Given for "F" Grades, Fall 2012

- Stopped Attending: 29%
- Missing Assignments: 26%
- No Reason: 21%
- Quiz/Test Performance: 13%
- Absenteeism: 5%
- Never Attended: 5%
- Class Prep/Participation: 1%
- Personal: 0%
- Plagiarism: 0%
- Behavior: 0%
- Child Care: 0%
- No Textbook: 0%
- Housing: 0%
- Financial: 0%
- Lateness: 0%